

Champion Women and the Women's Sports Policy Working Group

More than 9000 Signatures:

Stop Discriminating Against Female Athletes By Allowing Trans-Identified Males to Compete in the Female Sports Category

On this 50th anniversary of Title IX, legislative bodies and sports organizations must ensure that females receive equal opportunities to participate in competitive sports, in the same fair and safe competitive environment as afforded to male athletes.

Women have earned the right to our own sports category, based on the science of sex, biology, facts, rather than bigotry. The biological differences between males and females has always been the justification for the formal sex-segregation in sport; indeed, it is the only legal justification to permit official sex-segregation. Women are not weak or weakened males. As Title IX and the rise of women in sports has taught us, 'different' does not mean 'less than.'

Clarifying eligibility rules does not mean that transgender athletes should be excluded from sports. They must be made to feel safe and comfortable competing in their sex category.

9016 PEOPLE, INCLUDING 480 OLYMPIANS AND PARALYMPIANS, PETITION THE WHITE HOUSE, CONGRESS, AND SPORT GOVERNING ORGANIZATIONS TO PRIORITIZE COMPETITIVE FAIRNESS AND SAFETY FOR WOMEN

Champion Women and the Women's Sports Policy Working Group released the signatures of over 5446 athletes, parents, coaches and sports officials and others, including over 400 Olympians and Paralympians, who signed onto two petitions: The Women's Sports Policy Working Group positions and model legislation and the Champion Women petition in the fall of 2022.

While the petition was originally sent to the swimming community, it quickly spread. Thousands of athletes are breaking the silence and call upon legislatures and sports governance organizations to prioritize fairness and safety for females when developing transgender eligibility rules for girls' and women's competitive sports.

Now, 9016 people signed the petition, including 480 Olympians and Paralympians, 1223 Coaches, from over 25 sports and 10 countries. Over 2400 signers are parents or family members of a competing athlete, and 398 are sports officials. The signatures are well-balanced between men and women, and at least one transgender athlete has also signed.

A trans-identified male was able to qualify for the women’s NCAA National Swimming and Diving Championships because of grossly outdated NCAA transgender eligibility rules, that the NCAA acknowledged were not based on science. Worse, moving forward, the NCAA will still not prioritize fairness to female athletes for another year; having announced that it does not intend implement an updated rule until the 2023-24 academic year. The magnitude of this governance failure cannot be overstated.

The NCAA, the Olympic and Paralympic Movement know that from the onset of male puberty, male bodies develop to be faster, stronger, and more powerful than female bodies as a group. The performance gap emerging from that point forward ranges from 8% to 50% depending on the sport and event. The more explosive strength the sport or event requires, the bigger the gap between males and females. Biological women cannot overcome these immutable physical and physiological differences and the performance gap they create with more talent or training, better coaching, facilities, or nutrition. Only strong transgender eligibility standards that center fairness for females can guarantee fair competition.

People of good faith must be able to come together and envision a sport space where all athletes would be welcome, all athletes would be respected, and all girls and women would experience the same fair competition as boys and men.

#Note that many people signing the petitions fulfilled more than one role.

She is now a varsity swimmer on her university team. I believe in protecting the rights and records of female swimmers. We segregate sport categories by biological sex because science and experience bears out a need to do so in order to support fair outcomes for women in sport. We must continue to do so to protect fairness in sport for both my daughter and all of her biologically female colleagues in swimming

 Cecilia Dougherty McCloskey, Competitive Club, Masters, I placed 4th in the 1968 Olympic Trials In the 200meter backstroke; tie for 5th in the 100meter back. I was obviously before Title IX. I received no college scholarship and as a one of 10 children I needed one.
 I swam for West Chester University, but I never practiced because I needed to work. 4
 Decades later I returned to swimming Masters and have since broken 20 World Records.

Heather Middleton, College, Competitive High School, Coach, Official, Administrator, Parent / Family Member of Swimmer, Swimming Fan, I was a collegiate alpine ski racer and Junior Olympian. I know what competition is like on a high level when athletes are at the peak age and at peak performance level. There is no way that I would ever be able to beat a man in a downhill or any discipline in ski racing due to the sheer fact of biological strength differences. In swimming, no one gets physically hurt, but if this is allowed in other sports, women will get seriously hurt or killed. For example, wrestling, UFC fighting, boxing' where is the line drawn? It won't be drawn because that would mean you would have to admit there are biological differences. You can't deny science! The solution is to have transgender sports. Where there is no gender specific categories. They can all compete against each other. Just like the special Olympics or Paralympics. We don't send a special Olympian to the Olympics because it isn't fair. We don't have able-bodied Olympians going to the Paralympics because it's not fair. Same goes for Transgender women athletes competing against females; not fair. They should have their own competitions, their own Olympics, their own events.

Jim Butler, Coach - Girls basketball coach for 20 years; founder, Matrix Basketball; The women's sports category exists because in virtually every sport and virtually every event at every comparable level of competition, male athletes outperform female athletes because they've gone through male puberty. Women's sports needs to be for female athletes only. Not only is this consistent with Title IX as enacted, but it's the only way for female athletes to have the opportunities they deserve to shine. No males in Women's sports.

 Angela Homberg, Parent / Family Member of Swimmer, Even though I did not swim competitively, I played several sports and we need to keep women competing against women. We have worked so hard for equal competition. Female runners are dealing with the same issues. Please help not only swimming stay fair for the girls and women that work so hard, but for all female athletes who love to compete against their true competitors, other biological females.

 Paula Bill, Competitive High School, Recreational, Swimming Fan , How would men react, if women were in the men's NBA? How would men react, if women were in the NBA or the NFL The US soccer team argued that women weren't as good, to get out of paying women equally. The cheek to allow men into women's sports, after all these years denying women the ability to play. Men want us back in the kitchen or worse, fight this insanity.

Dede Scalf, College Varsity Competition; Women fought hard for title 9 and to have our own sports for a damn good reason. Scientifically speaking, men cannot change their sex. They will always be, biologically speaking, male. Even with hormones and blockers, they will still have significant physical advantage. Not to mention, height, strength, lung capacity, bone density, and a myriad of other differences from women and no amount of hormones, drugs or surgery can remove those advantages. This is not shocking news. This is common sense but apparently, fairness, dignity and rights for women are so low on people's priorities list, allowing biological males into their sports is acceptable. It is not! It is wrong ethically, legally and a liability to women's health. Save women's sports before it's too late.
